

Ceco Door Expands the StormPro® Window Shutter Offering for Severe Weather Protection

Milan, TN - December 7, 2009 - The Ceco Door StormPro line of windstorm compliant products now includes a window shutter system that enables windows in storm shelters to be quickly secured against threatening weather. This addition to the StormPro line is designed for safe rooms that require natural lighting from windows during normal conditions, but must also provide storm shelter level protection during threatening weather conditions.

“Providing a solution that allows traditional natural lighting during normal conditions and gives peace of mind for keeping windows secured, keeping the inhabitants safe during a tornado, was critical in the design of this system”, says Steve Smith, product manager for the company.

StormPro Window Shutter includes a 4-sided frame unit and heavy duty door along with hardware from fellow ASSA ABLOY Group brands CORBIN RUSSWIN and McKINNEY. With the addition of these new smaller sizes, our shutter kits fit windows as small as 1’8” wide x 3’0” high. This complements our current larger shutter portfolio which protects windows 4’0” wide x 6’8” high. These new smaller sized shutter kits integrate new, multi-point locking hardware specifically designed for the unique requirements of shutters. The unit can also be used as a shutter and exterior window within the same assembly. This eliminates the need for an additional exterior window and provides the building owner reduced labor and material costs.

The Ceco Door StormPro window shutter system is third-party certified through Underwriters Laboratories, and comes with the UL-certified label attached. StormPro is available as a preassembled ReadySet® system.
